

Lawenche

(Clapping song from Ghana, West Africa. It's in the Twi language. Roughly translated it means Let's clap together, I can see and owl, she's late, lets keep clapping)

Remember, you can pass the singing stick around the circle while the second half of the song is being sung.
Anyone who'd like to have a go of the call keeps hold of it and sing it twice, before passing on again during 'Ah, be ce na oh'. (Counts in blue, pitches in tiny purple)
